

ZEBRAS

By: Sophia

DESCRIPTION

-
- A photograph of an adult zebra and its foal walking through a grassy field. The adult zebra is in the foreground, facing right, with its foal walking slightly behind and to the left. Both animals have distinct black and white vertical stripes. The background is a blurred landscape of dry grass and a clear sky.
- Zebras have narrow feet and hard hooves.
  - Zebras are heavy and weigh about 600 pounds.
  - Zebras have strong back teeth.

Habitat

- Zebras live in savannas and grasslands.
- They also live in Africa and mountains.
- Zebras live in dry or hilly areas.

Food

- Zebras eat twigs.
- They also eat leaves.
- Zebras have to drink water every day.

Life cycle

- Zebras are very noisy.
- Zebras give birth to a foal.
- They can live up to about 20 to 25 years

Fun fact

- Baby zebras are called foals.
- Zebras almost never rest.
- Zebras are born with brown stripes

